Description of Fiscal Impact:

The Office of the State Public Defender (OPD) estimates that it would have additional case work related to an “add-on” charge of endangering the welfare of children in cases that includes a charge related to the production or possession or the having the supplies to produce methamphetamine. The costs related to these “add-on” charges are undeterminable at this point in time. The best estimates available put the cost of this potential charge between $8,000 and $13,000 a year. The OPD may be able to absorb the impact of this bill, however the cumulative effect of this bill along with other proposed legislation could have a significant impact on the agency.
